

Classroom Rights

In this class, I have a right to...

Be treated with respect and compassion.

- This means no one will treat me unfairly because of my looks, my beliefs, my ideas or my abilities.
- This means I have a right to be myself.

Be safe.

- This means no one will hit me, push me, call me names or hurt me.
- This means I am able to ask for help and be heard.

Be heard and be able to listen.

- This means I am able to express myself without being laughed at or interrupted and to hear others without being disrupted.
- This means no one will shout, scream, or make disruptive noises when it is time to learn.

Be able to learn to the best of my ability.

- This means I will not be teased, laughed at or made fun of because of the way I learn.
- This means I will have access to the materials and the supports I need to help me learn.

I agree to these rights.
